This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Librarian's Report.

OFFICE OF THE STATE LIBRARIAN,
DES MOINES, June 30, 1899.

To the Honorable Leslie M. Shaw, Governor of Iowa:

SIR—I have the honor to submit to you the Twenty-seventh Biennial report of the Iowa State Library, covering the period from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1899, inclusive, that period covering ten months of my predecessor's last term and fourteen months of my first term.

At the close of the last preceding biennial period there were 57,501 volumes in the library, 2,500 of which belonged to the traveling library section. To these there have been added during the period now closed a total of 7,502 volumes, acquired as follows: By purchase for the State, 4,223; for the traveling library, 1,150; by exchange and donation, 2,129; total, 7,502.

The number of volumes of record in the State Library proper is 61,443; in the traveling library, 3,650; total of all books in the State Library, 65,093.

Recent Accessions to the Library.

The accessions to the Library during the last biennial period include a large number of valuable works of reference recently issued, covering the ground of general statistics and recent economic, philosophical and historical research; also, the more important of the many descriptive works of the time. Especial attention has been given, however, to filling incomplete sets of standard works, and especially standard periodicals which were discontinued several years ago, during a period of temporary financial stringency occasioned by an overdraft on the fund appropriated for the Library's uses.

A study of the condition of the periodical section of the Library revealed to me a degree of strength which suggested the desirableness of making that section doubly valuable by completing broken sets and by adding such sets as are indexed by Poole and the Cumulative Index, and such other periodicals as have a historical value to the student and the scholar beyond their actual contents. A relatively small annual expenditure in this direction will in a few years give Iowa one of the best periodical libraries in the country. A beginning has already been made in that direction, and a number of fortunate purchases have been made which are not yet of record. With the aid of the periodical indexes, also the series indexes issued by a number of the great reviews and magazines, no branch of the Library yields a richer return on the investment.

The law library of the State has been greatly strengthened during the period under consideration. This library also suffered from the shortage of funds above referred to. Several valuable law periodicals were summarily cut off the list at the time, and not a few incomplete sets of reports were left uncompleted. So far as a just, even generous, division of the funds would permit, these breaks have been repaired, and plans have been laid for other valuable additions to this most important part of the Library. With the additions made and soon to be made, the law library of the State must soon regain, and should ever after maintain, its high rank among the great law libraries of the country.

Perhaps the most bulky, yet surely not the least valuable, additions made during the last biennial period have been the accessions to the document section. On entering upon my duties, I early availed myself of the wise generosity of the general government in the distribution of documents. Carefully checking the lists supplied by the Superintendent of Documents at Washington, I found the Library wanting many volumes to which the State, as a beneficiary of the government, was entitled. I sent on a checked list with the request that it be filled, and the Superintendent of Documents promptly responded as far as he was able at the time, and has since been sending the Library such documents as were not readily obtainable at first. One shipment included about 3,000 pounds of mail matter. These accessions are but partially listed in the accompanying bulletin, the rest not having been reached as yet in the classification and cataloguing of the Library. They are, however, temporarily arranged for use by the public.

I take pleasure, also, in reporting a very large accession of documents issued by other states. I am under especial obligations to my predecessor, Mrs. Cope, whose extensive correspondence prepared the way for the present liberal and mutually profitable exchange of documents between this Library and the libraries of other states. I am also under obligations to the American Library association and especially to a committee of State Librarians appointed in the State Library section of that association in 1898 (State Librarian Henry, of Indiana, chairman,) for much correspondence and information on the subject, all tending to make easier the purpose toward which the library is tending, namely; to have on call complete reports of all state officers, with all official registers, etc., issued by the several states. In this respect, as in the completion of broken sets and series in the Library, I have received very valuable assistance from Mr. A. J. Small, assistant to librarian.

Cataloguing the Library.

The most important change inaugurated since my induction into office is the scientific classification and cataloguing of the Library now in process. The classification adopted is known throughout the library world as the Dewey Decimal System. It has several advantages, chief among which are: the ease with which libraries are worked by it, and the readiness with which the untrained mind grasps its general features. While the work of classifying and cataloguing is severely scientific, the completed work is, for all general purposes, so simple that the public may resort to it without assistance, and may learn in the briefest space of time, a library's resources on any subject under consideration. An indirect, but no less important, advantage of the Dewey system is its general adoption by the libraries and library schools of the country. The work of successfully classifying and cataloguing a library can be done by experts only; and changes in the personnel of the cataloguers are liable to occur at any time. The ability of a new cataloguer to take up the work where her predecessor left off, and carry it on without change in system or methods, is of inestimable importance, as I have found in the experience of a single year.

Two winters ago a committee appointed from the Library Board asked the two Appropriations committees of the last General Assembly for $3,000 to be set apart exclusively for the classification and cataloguing of the Library. The House committee first voted down the proposition, but afterwards, reconsidering, recommended the sum of $2,000, on representation of the Librarian that this smaller sum would carry on the work for two years, until such time as another appropriation might be made. The House passed this item in the general appropriations bill, and the Senate, on recommendation of its appropriations committee, concurred. With the appropriation of $2,000 the work was begun. An expert cataloguer was engaged, and every aid was given the work which the Librarian and his assistants could extend.

I have to report the work of classifying and cataloguing the Library, though hindered and delayed through a concurrence of causes—not the least of which was the necessity of first cataloguing and shelving the new books added to the Library—is now progressing satisfactorily.

The work in progress should be completed before the close of another biennial period—also the cataloguing of the next two years' accessions which should be handled as they are received, taking precedence of the special work. I recommend a supplemental appropriation of $2,000 to carry on and complete the work of classifying and cataloguing the Library. Without such appropriation, a disastrous lapse must ensue, part of the Library scientifically catalogued and the rest either wholly uncatalogued, or catalogued inadequately.

Until comparatively recent years the term catalogue, as generally used in libraries, applied solely to a printed catalogue in book or pamphlet form. Now that term, as used in libraries, means simply a card catalogue—an aggregation of cards, written or printed, or both, alphabetically arranged on rods in drawers, the arrangement being both by authors' names and by subjects or titles, with cross-references wherever the subdivisions of a work call for additional clues to the finding of the subject matter. These cards, when rightly filled out, give not only the names of authors and the subjects of books, but also the edition of each work, the number of volumes, the classification numbers and the shelf numbers. So thorough and satisfactory is the card catalogue; so easily is the system worked, not only by the librarians, but also by the public, that, wherever it is in operation, there is little or no need of the printed catalogue. But the chief advantage I find in the system is this: The card catalogue, once in operation, is always down to date, while the printed catalogue of a large and progressive library is a "back number," even before it reaches the printer and binder.

The last general catalogue of the Library—printed in 1889—cost the state $3,051.79. A new printed catalogue would include about 18,000 more volumes than were reported ten years ago. The same-sized edition would now cost not less than $4,000—or the sum total of expense for re-cataloguing the entire library by the card-catalogue system. My present judgment is that the card catalogue, supplemented by biennial reports, is all the catalogue actually needed by those who use the Library, and will prove less expensive and far more serviceable than the printed catalogue.

Proposed Consolidation of the Miscellaneous Library and the Historical Library.

The nearing completion of the west wing of the new Historical Building, with its shelf-room for 50,000 volumes, and the evident purpose of the State to complete the building during the next two years, bring to the front a question long held in abeyance by unfavorable conditions, financial and otherwise, which do not now exist. The question is:

The consolidation of the miscellaneous portion of the State Library with the library of the Historical Department, leaving the law library in its present quarters in charge of a custodian responsible either to the Library Board or to the State Librarian.

That such consolidation would be gratifying to the Bar of the State can scarcely be questioned, for already the unavoidable encroachments of the miscellaneous library, with the increasing number of visitors consulting general works, deprive consulting attorneys of alcoves and study-rooms, which they were wont to occupy without interruption, and of the exclusive services of attendants. While the miscellaneous works, including documents, are increasing very fast, the law department also, with its reports from all our States and territories and colonies, and from the British possessions, with many law periodicals, English and American, text-books, digests, statutes, etc., is increasing equally fast, and the present problem of arranging the incoming law books, where they will be readily accessible without crowding back miscellaneous works which are equally in demand, is one which must increase in complexity with every new invoice.

While I do not feel warranted in volunteering an opinion on the subject, the present condition, and future conditions which I cannot but foresee, strongly impel me to urge at least a speedy settlement of this question of consolidation before the internal arrangements of the new building are completed, and before a laborious and costly rearrangement of the books in the present Library is forced upon us. The speedy settlement of the question would enable both the Curator of the Historical Department and the State Librarian to plan with definite knowledge as to the utilization of space with a view to the exigencies of the remote future. Even two years' delay in the settlement of the question would compel the heads of both these departments to continue the present temporizing policy, which, in many ways, is exceedingly embarrassing and in all respects is detrimental to the best interests of the State.

The Traveling Library.

The Traveling Library department of the State Library was inaugurated in 1896 and has been in operation about three years. It is too early to take its full measure but not too early to make an estimate as to its worth and possibilities. When our State undertook the work of establishing connection between its State Library and communities wholly without libraries or with weak and insufficiently sustained libraries, there was little beyond the success of similar plans in New York, Ohio and Wisconsin to warrant the undertaking. Recent as was the departure, Iowa is now named as one of the pioneer States in this new movement. Since the passage of the Traveling Library law the following States have passed similar laws: Maine, Indiana, Minnesota and Kansas; and in California, Nebraska, Illinois and other states, the Traveling Library is regarded as likely to be adopted, in some form, within the next two years.

The form of library chosen by our board was a case of fifty books of various classes, covering the whole range of general reading; belles lettres, popular science, domestic and political economy, philosophy popularly treated, and history. The first fifty libraries prepared to be sent out in the spring of 1897 were so well received that the next General Assembly voted an annual appropriation of $2,000 to be used in the purchase of additional books for associate libraries. The regular libraries now in circulation are seventy-three in number, all duly catalogued and in active service.

While a few localities have allowed their library privilege to lapse, the reasons therefor have been found to be exceptional. The rule is, as I might show by numbers of letters, that the associate libraries sent out by the State are gratefully received and extensively read. The many inquiries I am continually getting from other localities convince me that, with a sufficient number of libraries, I can largely extend the benefits of the system, reaching all parts of the State, instead of a few scattered communities as at the present time.

It was found, by experience, that the regular libraries of fifty books each did not meet the necessities of clubs and other organizations, individual members of such bodies, teachers and students in high schools and colleges, and others engaged in special research or special literary or scientific work. To meet this want, the State Library Board, last October, voted the Librarian a small appropriation, authorizing him to buy such books as in his judgment were of sufficient standard value to be set apart as a nucleus for a Special Loan branch of the Traveling Library. The Librarian has since found valuable assistance in the art committee of the Iowa Federation of Woman's Clubs, also in the Federation's committee on household economics, both of which have supplied lists of books recommended by them as specially desirable for club use. Nearly all the books recommended by the art committee have been purchased (though not catalogued, as yet,) and most of the works on household economics will soon be ordered. Other committees and other organizations will be invited to coöperate in this new development of our Traveling Library system—a feature generally approved by the librarians of the country because of its directness and simplicity. This branch of the work calls for a slight amendment to the Traveling Library law, making the system more elastic.

The new Special Loan branch does not in any way weaken the State Library as a reference library. Its books are acquired (1) by purchase, in many cases their duplicates being already in the State Library proper; (2) by transfer of duplicates which the cataloguer finds in the State Library, the same being a charge by the State to the Traveling Library; and (3) by donation, as in the instance of the Iowa Academy of Science.

This brings me to an important addition made to the Special Loan branch of the Traveling Library. The Academy of Science, at its last State meeting, proposed to the Librarian that it turn over to the Special Loan branch all its files of science periodicals, its reports and other documents, on condition that the State bind and catalogue the same and accord to the members the privilege of borrowing the volumes and other purely scientific works in the Library on the terms now set forth in the rules governing the loan of books in the Special Loan branch. The proposition was accepted by our Board, thus strengthening the Library with the scientists of the State and facilitating their individual and collective work, in the benefits of which the whole State shares.

The Proposed Library Commission.

Two winters ago a committee representing the State Library Association of Iowa appeared before a joint session of the Library Committees of the Senate and House and petitioned those committees to report a bill creating a Library Commission in Iowa.

These committees reported favorably on the measure but the bill was lost in the House, the objection being that the time was not opportune.

Since this measure was presented, the legislatures of Maine, Indiana, Minnesota and Kansas have each passed a library commission law with a view, primarily, to supplying reading matter to communities that stand in need of it, and, secondarily, to healthfully stimulating the library spirit in community life.

Stimulated by reports from other States, and by the zeal of officers and members of the leading women's clubs and societies in our own State, the State Library Association of Iowa recently invited the coöperation of the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs and the State organization of the P. E. O. society in the formulation and presentation of such a measure as in their combined judgment should and would command the approval of the next General Assembly. The invitation was gladly accepted, and a conference is soon to be held with that end in view. It is the evident purpose of this joint committee to ask for a non-salaried commission of five or seven members, the State Librarian to be ex officio a member, and at least two of the members to be representative women of Iowa.

Though the State, through its Librarian, with the aid of his competent associates, is abundantly able to carry on the Traveling Library department, and to extend its operations far beyond present attainments, yet it becomes clearer to me, with every month's experience, that the true library policy of the State is, rather, to develop the library spirit in the hundreds —yes, thousands—of Iowa communities which at the present time are without public libraries; to inaugurate methods of county and district exchange and distribution, and to stimulate to activity the hundreds of cities of the second-class that have not yet taken advantage of the excellent local library law already on our statute books. In my judgment such a policy should not be so carried out as to revolutionize the present system, which so far as it has gone has done and is doing much good and can be extended much farther with certainty of increasing benefits. It should rather be developed as an outgrowth of the present system—the adoption of a purpose to strengthen and elevate our local community life—rather than an extension of the present beneficent system beyond the point of healthful stimulation to local library spirit. I, therefore, look with favor on the proposed measure.

I would gratefully acknowledge my indebtedness to the President and members of the Library Board for their counsel, encouragement and forbearance during the trying first half of my first term as Librarian. Permit me to add a word expressing my appreciation of the personal kindness, wise counsel and well-directed zeal of the outgoing member of the Board, the Hon. G. S. Robinson. As chairman of the Book Committee, to whom all book lists are first referred, and to whom the Board naturally turn for advice and suggestion in matters of moment to the State Library interests, Judge Robinson has done the State a lasting service in many ways, and he has been of invaluable assistance to the Librarian in the discharge of his new duties.

The cataloguing in progress has put upon the entire Library force an extra burden of detail work, and I take pleasure in noting the unflagging industry and increasing efficiency of all my assistants.

Appended to this report is a complete statement of all moneys turned over to me by my predecessor, all moneys received by me on warrants drawn by order of the Library Board, and such other funds as have come into my hands.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHNSON BRIGHAM,
State Librarian.

Additions to the General Library, June 30, 1897, to June 30, 1899.

Explanation.

This list of additions is the first one published since the re-classifying and cataloguing of the Library was begun, and differs in form from previous lists of the Library. It is designed to enable the people of the State to know just what books have been added, and just where, in the classification of knowledge, it has been decided to place the book in the Library. It is hoped that the publication of the call numbers of the books will be a help to the librarians of the small libraries of the State in classifying their libraries. Care has been taken to print the full names of authors in the author index, in the belief that the publication of such a list will be helpful to librarians whose resources in the way of reference books are limited. It is further hoped that the circulation of this list of additions will influence the library methods of the State in the interests of uniformity.

The Library is being classified according to the Dewey decimal classification, with a limited number of variations and modifications. In addition to the class number, each book, with the exception of certain state and government documents, has the Cutter author mark to distinguish it from every other book of its class.

This list consists of a class list, arranged numerically according to class number, and an author index in alphabetical order. To find what has been added by a given author, the author index should be consulted. To find what has been added on a given subject the class list should be consulted. The key to the order of subjects in this class list will be found in the outline of the classification which precedes the class list.

It will be noted that the rules for capitalization in use in this list are those in vogue in modern library printing. These rules may be found in Melvil Dewey's Library school rules.
